To be a patriot means to love the country, to do something worthy of its people, to honor and value one's homeland. The reason is that the Motherland is the past, present, and future of every person.

Realizing the duty to one's country and nation should be the highest goal of every person. First of all, this person should feel that he is a part of his Motherland and be proud of it. It should be natural for him not to forget that he grew up in the Motherland, and to remember that it is the Motherland that expects him to be kind and successful. Only then can one attain happiness.

President Karimov.IA in his work entitled "Uzbekistan's future is a great state": "Every original child of Uzbekistan feels that he is an integral part of his motherland and is proud of it. We would not be wrong to say that this is one of the greatest assets of independence," he wrote. Yes, patriotism is closely connected with independence. A person's spirituality is mature only when these complement each other. Spirituality, character improvement and raising to a higher level are in harmony with the strengthening of the feeling of the Motherland. After all, understanding the duty before the Motherland and the people is a sign of high spirituality. Indeed, spirituality and enlightenment embody power. A spiritually immature person does not understand what his Motherland is. A person who does not understand this aspect does not understand himself. Patriotism is connected with human spirituality. Because spirituality also has its own history. It goes back to our historical culture and heritage, so first of all we should not forget this process. "Spirituality becomes a powerful force only when it relies on a deep knowledge and understanding of the history, culture and tasks of its people. Just as there is no perfect person without memory, there is no future for a nation that does not know itself." So, patriotism and spiritual qualities are two parts of one whole.

The concept of humanitarianism is also a broad concept. Philanthropy is kindness, loyalty, and sincerity towards people. Many concepts are expressed in the concept of humanitarianism. Examples of these concepts are honesty, faith, trust, hospitality, respect, justice, fairness, generosity, patience, understanding oneself and others, loyalty, hard work, and diligence. Consequently, these concepts are important factors in the formation of humanism.

Ensuring justice and peace among people is also patriotism and humanitarianism. In turn, these processes affect the spiritual and educational moral conditions of people. At the same time, it is an important means of educating young people in the spirit of humanity. Violation of humanitarian norms and duties has a negative impact on mutual equality. It destroys spiritual education.

Humanitarianism was established and promoted by great personalities, generals, scholars who had life experience in the history of mankind. Especially in religious books, great attention is paid to humanitarianism. Islam is one of the religions that perfectly embodies the ideals of humanity. "Holy Qur'an" and many wisdoms mentioned in hadiths confirm this opinion. Humanity is seen in mutual respect of people, valuing each other, being kind, helping, sympathizing, and sharing in grief.

A person who is humanitarian embodies the feeling of the Motherland. He will have understood more than others that there is no greater blessing than the Motherland. Homeland is a delight. For this reason, a person who is humanitarian puts the interests of the Motherland above his own interests. He lives and creates with this benefit. He makes others enjoy his creations. He makes others enjoy his creation, and he himself is satisfied, that is, patient.

II. Self-awareness means knowing one's homeland and the past of the people who lived in this homeland, its culture, traditions, and values. Self-realization is the realization of the contribution of one's people to the development of the world community. Self-awareness means a perfect knowledge of the history of the past ancestors, placing respect for their spirits.

Determining the development of one's country as a result of national self-awareness gives an example of the struggle for its independence. Self-awareness is used to determine one's own destiny in the future, it increases responsibility. Conclusions are drawn from the dedication and enthusiasm of the ancestors.

Self-awareness is such a unique process that reaching its essence forms in a person endless love, compassion, general humanity. It is difficult to understand national interests if people do not have national consciousness. When national consciousness is high, at the right time, that is, when there are events and actions that lower the value of one's nation, harm its spiritual and material wealth, and destroy its pride, then unification, It is a student's duty to understand the idea of national independence. However, it is inappropriate to assume that the formation of duty elements and processes of responsibility is the personal work of the student. In daily activities, these duties and responsibilities should be inculcated in the mind of the lesson "The Idea of National Independence: Basic Concepts and Principles" by every teacher.

There are various factors that contribute to the formation of a citizen as a person. These include:

- teaching citizens legal documents and standards within the framework of the "Idea of National Independence: Basic Concepts and Principles";
- to inculcate traditions, values, opinions of scholars in a comprehensible manner;
- to highlight the connection between national duty thinking and worldly duty thinking;
- preparing abstract topics about duties and responsibilities and distributing them to citizens at the appropriate time, requiring them to write an abstract in this area;
- comparing the duties and responsibilities of citizens in the history of society, drawing attention to their variability;
- to remind the importance of duties and responsibilities in the formation of the idea of national independence and the development of society;
- conducting conversations about the common interests of the public and private interests, recommending works written in this field, films made, etc.

III. "Iman" is an Arabic word and its literal meaning is "faith". Iman means that a Muslim believer understands the first of the 5 obligations of Islam with his mind. In addition to this, believing that the holy book, the Holy Qur'an, all the revelations about Allah were conveyed through the Hadiths, and through our Prophet to His servants, is also faith. In order to become a believer, if a person embodies various positive aspects and consciously realizes it, he recognizes a person as a believer. Belief is the quality of people who have their own opinions and views, and who do not disrespect a field and people, but know them as themselves and strictly adhere to them. Belief, action, chosen path is to show one's enthusiasm in life by acting in the league.

When real will, high qualities: faith, confession and action are connected in people, it looks into the future with the mirror of mind. He looks at his country and people with love, if necessary, he will even sacrifice his life. Confidence in the future, faith, belief, religion depends on being compassionate. In fact, "Faith is not a separate quality, but a specific system of mature spiritual norms characteristic of a person. A believer will be a perfect person. Therefore, faith includes all the qualities that represent perfect humanity:.
