It is known that young people are encouraged to think in a new way, boldly come up with new ideas and implement them, to solve problems based on creative and non-standard approaches, to bring out their talents and potential in the fields of science, innovation, literature, art and sports, to reveal their potential in our society. The skills of the tutor play an important role in creating all conditions for active participation in social and political life. In this regard, it is of great importance that the tutor spends his free time meaningfully and realizes his ideas and initiatives in the field of entrepreneurship within the framework of the "Five Important Initiatives" program in the implementation of major changes in the higher education system based on the idea of "Development of New Uzbekistan". In fact, the main task of tutors is to organize and implement educational processes that have historical foundations in the establishment of New Uzbekistan and fully respond to the existing political-legal, socio-economic, spiritual-educational, national interests of our country. Because the processes of educational reforms, which are expanding more and more, require them to eliminate shortcomings and defects along with achievements based on more ambitious tasks. In this place, the organization and management of educational work in the higher education system is a solid foundation for the development of New Uzbekistan. Tutors have the ability to teach young men and women, to acquire modern professions that are in high demand in the labor market, to find their place in society based on education, and to create conditions for realizing their dreams.

A tutor - who is always searching and aspiring in the education of young people, who aims for high goals and strives forward, will definitely achieve the goals he has set for himself. Such tutors lead to the improvement of students' self-awareness. As a result, students develop feelings of love, loyalty and patriotism.

What every specialist achieves in life, what achievements and results he has achieved directly depends on the competence of the tutor. That is why it is important for a tutor as a teacher to show love and attention to students. Because the level of development and culture of the society depends primarily on teachers and tutors. In the process of educational work, it is important for the tutor to study the physical development of students, study their anatomical and physiological characteristics, control how they live, what they breathe, and know closely what issues and problems interest and worry them.

It is necessary for the tutor to pay attention to all the problems that are hotly discussed by the general public and to bring them to the minds of students through training and spiritual events, and to develop a culture of responding to them. In educational activities, tutors teach students high respect, respect, country, peace, unity, growth, advancement, rights, boundless love and loyalty to our homeland, knowledge and experience, intelligence, the formation of feelings of a single people, a single nation, and a noble goal, making them New Uzbekistan. creates an opportunity to take a place in the ranks of creators.

Today, in higher educational institutions, it is necessary to further support and encourage the mentoring abilities of tutors, to create a special system for managing and organizing the activities of educational institutions, to form respect for national and universal talents in students, to further increase the level of their spiritual, moral, intellectual and physical development, and to improve their knowledge. It is of particular importance to carry out propaganda activities on the basis of science and enlightenment, to bring students to maturity, to organize student activities that will achieve concrete results in their work, will be able to do anything in the 21st century, will be recognized by the world, and will have a healthy mind-set.

In fact, the organization of tutor pedagogical activities in higher education institutions is the realization of the art and skills of acquiring moral qualities, business, knowledge level, teaching skills, consciousness, reputation in society, self-representation in a positive way, purposeful work, counter-intuitive, thinking, sensing the environment in the team, most importantly, accurately planning the work activities, being able to analyze various situations, attracting and convincing students, ensuring unity of work with words are considered to be his main competencies. The tutor performs his duties thoroughly and honestly in the implementation of educational work, and shows his effectiveness in improving the students' activities and increasing their responsibility and morale. The tutor's professional skills and modern thinking, the ability to make all-round correct decisions in the management of the educational process, define specific tasks for achieving the set goals. It is usually upon entering the teaching profession that different knowledge begins to influence students. As a result of not knowing how to get out of the depressions encountered in student activities, there are cases of disappointment in one's profession. In order to eliminate these situations, the tutor should attach importance to himself, be fully prepared for his profession, always control his attitude towards himself, develop the ability to overcome depressions, disappointments, defeats and problems that occur in teaching activities, follow a healthy lifestyle, and teach him to value himself. , it is important to change your mind, direct yourself to positive, encouraging, joyful thoughts, prepare to learn to accept all of your dreams and imaginations, whether they are true or not, in some cases. In this process, the tutor encourages the students with words like "You are unique, you can think as if you are noble, you cannot find a student who does every job smoothly" and eliminates some small mistakes in them. Tutor has the ability to develop students' knowledge of self-directed work, breathing and posture, feeling satisfied with their work, opportunities in their lives, daily worries, always moving, being successful, knowing entrepreneurship, playing musical instruments, being a member of the club they want, the ability to do scientific work, to have a broad worldview and a culture of self-management, as well as the development of the student's ability to think, creates the possibility of stabilizing the level of education. In these processes, one can see students who have an opinion about themselves. Shy thoughts in students - shyness, bold thoughts - boldness, weak thoughts - lack of will, strong thoughts - enthusiasm, goal-oriented thoughts - aiming for a specific goal, weak thoughts - weakness, enthusiastic thoughts - enthusiasm; successful thoughts create the will to achieve success. The more a student approaches himself with responsibility, the more he will spend his whole life in prosperity. Forms love and kindness. The tutor develops the student's personality formation and development of positive emotions by supporting them, being loyal, understanding, and self-acceptance. Supporting students who have low self-confidence or are not at all satisfied with themselves, to be able to do anything, to be successful, to be determined, to look forward to the future, to be able to think, to behave, to believe in one's own strength, to do the right thing in any situation, to be kind to those around you. The tutor's pedagogical skills are reflected in the answers to the students' questions and in solving problems. There are also cases of lack of pedagogical skills in some tutors. In such processes, tutors identify their interests, ways of thinking, and views with their own minds while finding differences between students, thinking based on the given information. Students with creative thinking recognize themselves as individuals, while students with weak creative abilities believe that they are not capable enough to do things. In some students, new approaches, ideas, solutions to create new ideas that no one knows yet, and the results of the work and results develop in them the ability to be creative, creativity, creativity, and the realization of new dreams. Of course, the tutor's creative strategy plays an important role in the implementation of these tasks. To do this, the tutor develops new thoughts, new ideas, teachers' teachings, methods, in-depth study of all achievements in education and science, and develops aspirations, success and happiness in students. During his activity, the tutor shows his passion for learning based on constant research and answering students' questions as an integral part of educational development. In this process, the tutor solves problems related to what needs to be changed in the educational process, why to allocate more time to work with each student, help to improve the quality of education, what books to read, helps to improve his pedagogical skills. The boldest and most wonderful change in the tutor's activity in the implementation of these tasks is the manifestation of his prudence - speaking the truth, being honest, managing himself diligently, paying attention to the aspects of education and upbringing, reflecting valuable thoughts and areas, needs and desires.
