

THE IMPORTANCE OF EDUCATION IN THE WORK OF FUTURE PSYCHOLOGISTS

Tajiddinova Laylokhan

Andijan State University Faculty of Social Economy

ABSTRACT

This article describes the importance of education in the development of future psychologists as specialists in their profession, as well as all the pedagogical and psychological tasks that can be used in the education of students.

Keywords: educator, reform, qualification practice, test and experience, experimental training, mature staff, knowledge refinement, educational principles, methods.

INTRODUCTION

During the years of independence, in our country, special attention has been paid to the issue of creating the necessary opportunities for methodical organization and development of psychological services in schools. "Creating new jobs, further improving the continuous education system and increasing the opportunities for quality education services" is defined as an important task in the Action Strategy for the five priority directions of the development of the Republic of Uzbekistan in 2017-2021. The main content of the work of a school psychologist in the educational system is the means of psychological influence that ensure the all-round development of students, the creation of the necessary conditions and environment, empathy and benevolence towards the client and the student. consists of manifestation. The future pedagogue should use this in the educational process.

What qualities should a future educator have? Let's express our thoughts in this regard. Education is important in the development of a person's intelligence, knowledge, will and faith, qualities of maturity. As an unquenchable torch, it brings a person to the kingdom of pleasure without any effort. At the same time, education shows the way to reach bright heights under any circumstances, it sharpens a person's mind and thoughts like a sword, and gives spiritual nourishment to every person, bringing them to the world of culture and enlightenment. Prevents bad people and bad deeds. Serves to be good manners and polite. As a result, people will be dear and respected everywhere. Education is the tool that sets a person's life on the right path. That is why great people who have achieved high qualities, greatness and dreams through education are appreciated among the people. Education perfects social qualities such as knowing good and bad, knowing the difference between honest and bad, understanding the virtues of friendship and relatives, understanding laws and regulations, and knowing one's rights. In our country, a child receives education from parents in the family, and from a teacher-coach at school. At this point, it is necessary to emphasize the role of teachers in education. The future pedagogue should develop prospective plans for the organization of educational work, and in it, the content of each event, deadlines, responsible performers and the level of effectiveness of the planned activities. is important. In this regard, the future teacher should have the experience of analyzing educational processes, using different methods, actively thinking consciously, mobilizing knowledge, and independently implementing all the work processes he performs. it is necessary to have pedagogical skills. Responsibility, commitment, legal consciousness and legal culture, deep worldview, healthy faith, enlightenment, religious and national background are essential for successfully preparing students for social life in the rapidly changing new Uzbekistan. The formation of citizenship, spirituality, civil culture, etc. are becoming the main issues on the agenda. Because education is the ability to correctly assess the complex geopolitical and ideological processes taking place in the world, to make the right decisions in solving social problems, to form specific goals related to finding one's place in life, it has a positive effect on preventing the disconnection of family-society relations, creating an opportunity to protect against indifference, crime, various forms of "mass culture". From this point of view, in the organization and management of education of future teachers, it is necessary to identify, study and popularize advanced pedagogical experiences, to carry out scientific research, to educate students in the spirit of respect for national and universal values. , to strengthen the effective cooperation between the family and the school in the education of students, to support the formation of respect for parents, representatives of other nations and cultures based on the universal principle, to protect the rights of children and to protect their legal interests should pay special attention to provision. Also, to increase the effectiveness of education based on the creation and implementation of educational-methodical complexes related to the education of the new generation, to fully understand and apply the content of the sciences as a result of the complete assimilation of the educational materials. must also be achieved. All this increases the effectiveness of education. The main tasks of future teachers are to increase independent thinking, initiative and creativity in students through education and to improve the content of education based on this.

MAIN PART

The teaching method is a way of orderly organizing the interaction of the teacher and the students to achieve the specified educational goal, and it can be classified as follows: lecture, story, explanation, demonstration, demonstration, video method, exercise, laboratory method, practical work method, working with a book, conversation, argument, brainstorming, pinboard, educational project method, case-study, etc. Forms of education are grouped as follows: mass work, collective work, group, individual. Educational tools are auxiliary materials that visually present the educational material and at the same time increase the effectiveness of teaching. The process of education is directly connected with the process of education.

The ability to educate is based on the high level of culture and spirituality, personal ethics, patriotism and duty of the pedagogue. Personality qualities of a teacher that provide the human factor in the educational process include: demandingness and fairness, honesty and benevolence, enterprisingness and a sense of humor. The ability to objectively evaluate and control the knowledge of learners is psychologically and pedagogically inextricably linked with the pedagogue's ability to teach and educate. The future teacher should be competent and experienced in his work, have deep knowledge, know the state and foreign languages, modern pedagogical technologies and innovative methods of teaching, be in contact with other organizations, large companies and associations based on the cluster method. It is necessary to improve the content of education based on this. It will also be useful for him to have knowledge of national and world literature, music, cinema, sculpture, applied art and other creative fields.

In addition, he should be active in the introduction of information innovations in the educational process, taking into account modern requirements and based on the approved standards, implementing new educational laboratory and scientific research works. At the same time, holding creative contests, tests and other tests among students and conducting activities aimed at developing their knowledge, skills, and talents increases the effectiveness of education. Of course, it is important for the teacher to be qualified, to convey to the minds and hearts of the students the socio-economic changes taking place in the world today. In this process, the teacher introduces students to the historical and national traditions, spiritual values and world cultural achievements of the people of Uzbekistan, develops their scientific, technical and artistic creativity, supports their initiatives and interacts with each other. through relationships, they should trust each other, look at themselves and others honestly and truthfully, prepare them to fully feel their responsibilities to themselves.

In the process of education, the teacher should study the student's personality, gain their trust, use the right approach to achieve mutual understanding, express their relationships, feel their feelings and look at them. It is necessary to create a modern and reasonable system for paying. Through this, the teacher determines the socio-psychological attitude of students to creative thinking, active participation in life and initiative. In this regard, it is one of the primary issues that the teacher pays attention to the formation of a patriotic and people-loving person who feels his responsibility before the society, the state and the family, who correctly understands the internal and external policies of the state. By the way, the pedagogue carefully and attentively observes the student's activities, helps them, discusses problems, conducts interviews, questionnaires, tests in the process of making the right decisions, learns their opinion and worldview. provides an opportunity to identify niches, errors and shortcomings. In this process, the level of theoretical and methodological training, pedagogical skills and personal qualities of the teacher play an important role in studying the results of education and preparing conclusions. The fact that future teachers perform their duties carefully and honestly in the implementation of educational work shows its effectiveness in raising the responsibility and morale of students. In this regard, the role of spiritual education is very important. Spiritual education, in fact, is a complex process that allows the ancestors to convey the life experience to young people and, on this basis, find their place in society. Today, life itself demands the creation of a new concept of educational work. The teacher's professional skills and modern thinking, the ability to make the right decisions in the management of the educational process, and define specific tasks for achieving the set goals. The teacher performs a great task not only in carrying out educational work, but also in the development of society. Therefore, it is important for any teacher, first of all, to thoroughly understand the life levels of his students and to gain as much experience as possible in this field. It should be noted that students imitate their teachers in many ways. If the teacher does the right thing in this process, the students will also do the right thing. One of the most effective ways to manage the educational process is for the teacher to present his point of view in a visual form, with colorful, unexpected, events and examples from life. Each teacher has his own methods of education. A teacher's behavior, dreams, goals and achievements affect the student's development. In order to identify the shortcomings and mistakes of the student, the teacher first studies his behavior will give a significant result. Although the child does not embody the qualities of his parents, in the process of education, the teacher gives love to students and develops beautiful feelings such as supporting, helping, loving and being loved. Education provides students with knowledge, rules, values, and all the traditions necessary for the socialization of a person.

CONCLUSION

Following the established order in the management of the educational process, they include expanding knowledge, immediately entering into communication, forgiving a lost person, helping him, being forgiving, believing in oneself and those around you, being kind, doing good, seeing develops feelings of giving.

The teacher leaves it up to the student to distinguish between right and wrong, good and bad. Despite the fact that the directions given to him about what to do or what cannot be done will develop the student's rights, he is strictly required to obey the established order. A teacher who chooses this management believes that "my student should have ideal qualities" and never puts pressure on him. The teacher is an assistant in the student's goals and actions, life tests, and thinks about making him happy. A good relationship between students appears in spiritual closeness, unity of values, common situation and interests. Today, the management of educational work is gaining importance in ensuring the stability of the socio-political life of the country and society. In fact, this is the goal of the reforms being implemented in this regard.

REFERENCES

1. Andreeva G. M. Social psychology. M., Aspect Press. 2010
2. S. Yusupova. Pedagogy of preschool education. Study guide. Tashkent, 1993.
3. Azizkhodjaeva N.N. Pedagogical technology and pedagogical skills. - T.: Science, 2006
4. Golenishcheva E.L. Socio-psychological factors of aggressiveness younger students. Abstract diss.. candidate of psychological sciences: 19.00.13/ St. Petersburg-2005. C-5
5. Kreikhi B. Social psychology of aggression. – M.: Piter, 2003. – P.56.
6. Unmarried. V.S. "The concept of aggressive behavior in modern psychology", Science and Modernity. - 2011. - No. 10–1. - With. 300
7. Rasulova.F.F. The psychological features of aggressive behavior in teenagers: Dissertation abstract of the doctor of philosophy (PhD) on psychological sciences: 19.00.06/-Tashkent.2018. P.8-9.
8. Semenyuk.L.M. The psychological essence of aggressiveness and its manifestations in adolescent children. Method of recommendation to help teachers - practitioners. - M., 1991. - C-16
9. Shalaginova.K.S. Systemic psychological support of aggressive younger students. Abstract diss.. Candidate of Psychological Sciences: 19.00.07/Moscow - 2008. C-5-6.

