Uzbekistan's sports fame is growing every year, today Uzbekistan is called the best sports power among Muslim countries. This is constantly confirmed by the victories of representatives of Uzbekistan at the most prestigious international tournaments, world championships, Olympic and Asian Games. We are proud of their numerous gold, silver and bronze medals, demonstrating the high potential of Uzbek sports.

Keywords: international competitions, women's sports festivals, boundless care Watching the course of various competitions, I am convinced again and again that our republic has grown gifted, talented athletes. I am very pleased that they represent not only the capital, but also the most remote regions of the country. Coaches from other countries participating in the current international competitions confirm that the skills of Uzbek athletes are growing from year to year. But the most important thing is that, unlike many other countries of the world, the basis for development in this area is laid in the huge support provided by the leadership of Uzbekistan to the development of women's sports. The success we have achieved is based on the boundless care of the President of Uzbekistan for young people. An integral part of the state's concern for the health of women is their involvement in physical culture and sports. In all regions of the country, more than 35 thousand sections for 39 sports have been created for them, in which more than 3.5 million women are constantly engaged. With the participation of the Women's Committee of Uzbekistan, republican and regional women's sports festivals, competitions "Dad, Mom and I are a sports family", sports competitions "A healthy woman is a healthy society «are held.

All the youth of Uzbekistan, as well as students of a sports university should know and be proud of their champions! The current stage of society's development is characterized by an active process of informatization, which is specifically implemented in the collection, comprehension, accumulation of extensive information in various fields of people's activities. In this regard, new pedagogical methods and information technologies are being actively developed and introduced into the learning process. One of the widely used currently is an interactive teaching method, such as dialogues, conversations, business and situational mini-games, "brainstorming", " opinion contests (who is right?", various clusters based on the principle of active communication, contribute to removing the psychological barrier between the teacher and the fear of making a speech mistake, help them to actively engage in speech communication. This method of constructing an educational lesson is characterized by the practical orientation of the learning goals, a functional approach to the selection of language material, its situational and thematic organization. When developing various types of interactive tasks, it is necessary to take into account the importance of a correct and clearly formulated communicative task, which should be the basis for organizing the program educational material, ensuring its perception, memorization, and practical application. For example, take the vocabulary of a tennis player. Being a tennis student, it is very important to know that tennis has gained popularity and spread all over the world. A large number of participants and spectators gather for major international tournaments. The strongest players in the world who perform at these competitions are physically well prepared, athletic, have lightning-fast reaction, excellent mobility and dexterity. They play powerfully and accurately, in an attacking style. They have a fine sense of game situations and continuous creativity, as well as knowledge of tennis terminology. Every future tennis player should constantly enrich her vocabulary. However, it is necessary to recognize the high level of density of terms of foreign language origin in all genres of tennis. The peculiarity of modern tennis terminology is the high dynamics of the development of form and content. The terminology of tennis, as well as sports in general, is updated in connection with changes in society and language. With the emergence of new phenomena, artifacts, elements, actions, skills and abilities in physical culture and sports, with the growth of sports skills, with changes in the rules of competitions, new terms for their designation have appeared and, of course, will appear. The terminological system of tennis is a functional type of language — an independent and self-sufficient system within the general system of the national language, with its own set of units and rules for combining them with each other, used by native speakers in professional communication.
