Among the many factors of education, music has a special place in leading the young generation to maturity. Music, with its unique nature, has the power to greatly influence the spiritual world of young people. It is not a secret for any of us today that under the influence of melody and melody, a person's emotional world grows, the formation of perception and thinking, the desire for goodness, love for beauty, the desire to protect mother nature, and to serve for the prosperity of the homeland are increasing.

Today, young men and women, who first stepped on the path of art, are diligently learning the secrets of the art of music. It is known that in all educational institutions of our republic, along with various subjects, music clubs and music lessons are conducted. There is no doubt that participation in music circles is a great performance school for young musicians. Law “On Education”, “National Program of Personnel Training”, Decision PD 112 of February 2, 2022 “Additional measures for the further development of the sphere of culture and art” on decisions, the introduction of state educational standards places great responsibility on the teachers of music culture. As stated in the state educational standard, special importance is given to Uzbek national music in musical culture classes, and the performance of songs from spiritual training ceremonies, which is one of the folk traditions of local and stylistic directions. there is ample room for singing and listening to allas, lapars and yallas created in the folk way.

The decision of our honorable president Shavkat Mirziyoev “On measures to improve the activity of music art” is both pride and joy for us. The opportunities of the young generation and the pedagogues who are coaching them will be expanded and they will benefit from their work. Songs encouraging children to love nature, respect adults, and hard work can be the basis of every song studied in the music culture class, or in other words, on the basis of the activities of extracurricular music clubs in educational institutions and in it. It is possible to educate young students by connecting the content of the sung songs with the above qualities. This is the only way to achieve spiritual maturity and a rich cultural and spiritual heritage.[8]

The purpose of music clubs is to organize students’ free time and to strengthen their abilities, to form aesthetic taste and to expand their spiritual outlook. Our head of state: The dream of a new Uzbekistan, in terms of today, is the requirement of the time, the ideological-spiritual basis that determines its original appearance, driving forces and factors, the creativity characteristic of our people, and a clear expression of our large-scale reforms. Those who did not say So, aesthetic education is the core of spirituality.

In the work of organizing music clubs outside the classroom and school, the main goal is to organize the free time of students and young people voluntarily. The importance of this is to satisfy the artistic needs of children.[9] Public forms of extracurricular musical groups include singing festivals, “Music week”, “Mountains of inspiration”, “Little Dancer” auditions, creative meetings, trips to the theater and concerts. “Alifbe” holidays, meetings with poets and composers, party-concerts are included. But each of these should be prepared in advance depending on the interest and age of the children.

The main tasks of all pedagogues working in general education schools are to provide students with knowledge during training, and at the same time, they also organize musical and goal-oriented educational activities outside the classroom. [10] The main goal of events held in educational institutions and their organizers, pedagogues (music teachers), is to organize them with a deep understanding of our national values.

Events prepared and held in educational music circles are of particular importance. It is necessary to enrich the spiritual world of the students by engaging them through entertaining, relaxing, educational and public events that have become a tradition in our country. In general, educational institutions cannot be imagined without clubs.[11] By using songs specific to spiritual education in music circles, teachers-pedagogues achieve understanding of the world, mental, moral, volitional and physical perfection in the minds of students, in a word, performance through songs will become more lively, training efficiency will increase.

Therefore, if the work carried out in educational institutions is properly organized, in particular, if there are no serious deficiencies in the planning of the distribution of classes, the effectiveness of education will continue to increase.

Scholars of our country laid the foundation stone for many branches of science since ancient times. [12] In the music circles, students develop their musical abilities in the formation of their spiritual worldview, acquire the skills of singing, playing tunes on musical instruments, and dancing, and in the folklore music circle, they learn ancient customs and traditions, learn various sayings, riddles and proverbs left by our ancestors, learn the songs of the national people in the rituals of spiritual education. In conclusion, in the development of the activities of clubs in educational institutions, music clubs attract the attention of children with their unique direction.
